The MBA Leadership is provided online in English.

This specialization is primarily focused on practically usable knowledge from the field of management, which is necessary for the performance of a managerial position.

The goal of the specialization is to teach students not only to manage but above all to lead - that is, to understand how to become a proper leader and effectively motivate their subordinates to achieve the best possible results. An integral part of the specialization is also a focus on the communication skills of individuals and their use in specific situations. Students will also learn how to approach conflict resolution, analytical and complex thinking, and the ability to self-reflect and increase work efficiency.

The MBA Leadership includes the following beyond the basic and optional modules: Communication Skills, Leadership, Myself Management.
